Employment Skills Workshop (with a Job Fair Component)

You have in your hands the proven keys to simplify and improve your virtual employment skills workshop, whether you're a Hiring Manager, Employer, or Recruitment Event Planner.

With this playbook, you'll create impactful employment skills workshops that:

- Empower companies to find and hire the right talent, no matter where in the world they are located.
- Allow job seekers and recruiters to easily and conveniently interact with each other, interview, and build relationships.
- Broaden participating companies' talent pipelines and build brand awareness to connect with talent segments that may not have heard about them.

You're about to discover Remo's full potential to deliver engaging experiences easily. Specifically, you're going to master the Run of Show feature, which will help you stay organized and focused on ensuring your event runs without glitches or hiccups.

Run of Show

The Run of Show is a behind-the-scenes tool that can help you track your agenda, event actions to be taken, and who's responsible [Person In Charge or PIC].

Copy the sample Run of Show below to build one for your own event.

Of course, you'll want to customize the Run of Show for your event. As you do, keep in mind the key elements of an employment skills workshop with a job fair component:

- Dynamic Networking – Job seekers and employers can easily join and move between small group collaborative chats, discussions, and spontaneous hallway conversations.
- Enriching Presentations – Let your guests connect over ground-breaking career-building content.
- Immediate Interviews – Employers can jump into a private conversation with qualified talent in just two clicks of a mouse. Enjoy immediate in-depth confidential conversations right in the virtual venue.

While this sample Run of Show details a half-day employment skills workshop with just the morning session, you can easily duplicate the above to suit your event's needs. Simply extend this agenda and Run of Show for a full-day event and add networking time, presentations and workshops as needed.

When ending a Presentation and returning to Conversation mode, make sure to inform your guests about the following:

- What to do during the break.
- How to move around.
- How to check out the whiteboards and resource links.
- When the next Presentation session begins.

Summary

With this easy-to-replicate Run of Show, you're all set for a smooth event.

Through an easy virtual format, you'll be providing practical career-building presentations, lively connections, and those invaluable serendipitous hallway conversations.
